

Statement on the Loss of Communal Facility

The site was formerly occupied by the New Friargate Social Club. The club closed down a number of years ago and the building has been unoccupied since then. Prior to this the club had a troubled history with incidents of anti-social behaviour and crime being recorded by the Police.

Since closing, the site has been used as a car park. The building itself remains but is now in a state of advanced disrepair and it is most unlikely that it will be brought back into use.
